

Historic Test Ban Treaty Is Approved

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON AP)—The Senate ratified the history-making limited nuclear test ban treaty today.

Approval of the pact banning nuclear weapons testing in the atmosphere, in outer space and underwater, came after more than two weeks of committee hearings and an equal time of Senate debate.

With a two-thirds vote of the Senate required for approval, the resolution went through on a 80-19 roll call.

The treaty was signed at Moscow Aug. 5 by the United States, Soviet Russia and Great Britain. It was sent to the Senate by President Kennedy Aug. 8 with these words: "While it will not end the threat of nuclear war or outlaw the use of nuclear weapons, it can reduce world tensions, open a way to further agreements and 'help to ease the threat of war.'"

Opponents, who fought vainly to the last, contended it jeopardizes national security, freezes a Soviet advantage in high-yield weapons and permits the Russians to continue development underground in the small weapons field where this country now leads.

The treaty came under seething attack from Sens. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, John Stennis, D-Miss., who

McClellan Opposes Treaty

WASHINGTON AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan of Arkansas voiced opposition Monday to ratification of the limited nuclear test ban treaty, bringing to 18 the number of senators committed to vote against the pact.

McClellan and Sen. Edwin L. Mechem, R-N.M., lined up together Monday. This left only Sens. Howard Cannon, D-Nev. and Margaret Chase Smith, R-Me., uncommitted on the treaty.

McClellan and Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., also joined in voting against a proposed treaty reservation, rejected 75-13, which would hold up the effectiveness of the treaty until Russia removes its bases from Cuba.

They split their vote on a move, tabled by a 61-33 vote, to attach an understanding that the treaty does not inhibit use of nuclear weapons in an armed conflict.

McClellan said in a speech prepared for Senate delivery, it would be "most pleasing and highly satisfying if I could find it consistent with national safety and security" to vote for treaty ratification.

The speech said any commitment with Russia that requires the United States to lower its guard or forego actions that may be indispensable to maintain a military posture and readiness to provide a deterrent to "her ambitious threat of aggression most certainly is not in the national interest."

McClellan said there is "simply too much at stake."

The Senate was to vote on ratification of the pact today. Eighty senators have either committed themselves to vote for the pact or indicated they are inclined to do so.

City Can Exercise Right of Domain

LITTLE ROCK AP)—The fact that an individual developer will benefit from construction of a sewer line does not destroy the power of El Dorado to exercise eminent domain for the right-of-way, the state Supreme Court ruled Monday.

The decision reversed a Union Circuit Court ruling that the city failed to prove that condemnation of land of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Kidwell was in the public interest.

The court said it was incidental that the sewer line in question led to a private housing project and that the burden of proof of public interest was on the Kidwells and not the city.

Eagle Scout Award to Hope Youth

Bill Coffee

Bill Coffee will receive an Eagle Scout Award at ceremonies tonight (Tuesday) at the First Methodist Church beginning at 7:30 p.m. The 15-year-old member of Troop 62 is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Coffee.

This is the first Eagle Scout Award to be achieved in Hope in about 11 years, according to Scout Master Jerry O'Neal, one of the last to receive the Eagle Award.

Bill joined the Boy Scouts in 1959. He was a Den Chief three years has served as a Patrol Leader, and at present is Senior Patrol Leader. A member of the coveted Order of the Arrow, he is a Clan Chief.

He attended the 49th Conference of the Order of the Arrow at the University of Illinois this year and will attend the National Jamboree next year at Valley Forge, Pa. Twenty-one merit badges are required for an Eagle Scout. Bill has earned 23 and is working on more.

Monday night he was in charge of the Indian dances presented by the scouts at the Youth Jamboree in the Coliseum. A sophomore at Hope High School, Bill is manager of the Bobcat football team and is active in work at the First Baptist Church.

Clyde Coffee, Bill's father, has been registered in scouting more than 25 years, is a former Scout Master of Troop 62 and holds the Silver Beaver Award. Royce Weisenberger will present the Eagle Award to the outstanding local scout tonight at 7:30 p.m. The public, especially boys 11 years of age or older, is invited.

Student Case Going to Court Today

OXFORD, Miss. AP)—The case of Negro student Cleve McDowell, suspended from the University of Mississippi after his arrest on a civil charge of carrying a pistol, was expected to come before the Student Judicial Council today.

McDowell, 21, a law student from Drew, Miss., was entitled to leave jail to attend the hearing. It was uncertain whether he would do so.

Sheriff Joe Ford said he received a complaint Monday that McDowell was armed. The weapon was observed, the sheriff said, when it fell from the student's pocket. It was a .22 caliber pistol with a two-inch barrel.

Ford said he picked up McDowell at the law school and found the weapon in his inside coat pocket. McDowell admitted it was his, the sheriff said, but made no other statement.

He was charged with carrying a concealed deadly weapon. The charge carries a maximum penalty of a $100 fine and three months in jail.

All students who enter the university must sign a pledge they will not carry firearms on the campus. It was understood that McDowell had signed such a pledge.

Tonight's big occasion will be the selection of the Queen of the Third District Livestock Show in the Coliseum. The winner will get $100 as expense money to enter the State show next week at Little Rock. This morning marked the start of the FFA judging.

Jamboree winners last night: Clyde Coffee and Clyde Coffee's troop won the scout division; The Centerville 4-H Club won that division and Mike Lamb of Delight won the FFA division.

Yesterday's parade winners: Schools—Cale, $35; 2-Emmet, $25 and 3-Willisville $15; Yerger High School first in Negro Division, $35 award.

Just a Part of Growing Up

MALVERN, Ark. AP)—Malvern Municipal Judge Windell O. Epperson settled a squabble between two Negro youths Monday, then said a lot of the nation's juvenile delinquency results from boys being arrested for doing things that are really a part of growing up.

The two Negro boys had been brought before him for fighting. The judge told them fighting used to be the accepted way for boys to settle their differences, then asked, "Have you settled your argument. Are you good friends now?"

They nodded, then grinned. "Okay," Epperson said, "Shake hands and go on your way."

U.S. Not Likely to Take Mart Poultry Offer

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer
BRUSSELS AP)—The European Common Market offered the United States a small cut in its tariff on U.S. poultry today but demanded that Americans abandon the idea of further negotiations on the issue.

The demand made double certain that the United States would reject the offer to trim 1.3 cents from the 13.43 cents-a-pound duty, a 10 per cent cut in a tariff the Common Market raised 180 per cent last year.

The United States was expected to press for negotiation of the dispute by the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, the 45-nation international trade organization.

It took the foreign ministers of the six market nations—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—only 20 minutes to reach a unanimous decision.

Christian A. Herter, President Kennedy's chief negotiator here, had said earlier the 1.3-cent reduction was inadequate.

A French spokesman said the U.S. proposal for arbitration of the dispute by GATT was badly received and was not even discussed.

The United States is expected to announce retaliatory tariff increases against the Common Market countries by early next month.

WASHINGTON AP)—The Communications Commission said Monday it has received the application of KFOY-TV, American Television Co., Inc., Hot Springs, Ark. for assignment of construction permit to Arkansas Educational Television Commission.

Thinks U.S. Cut Off Nose to Spite Face

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A spokesman for President Ngo Dinh Diem said today the United States cut off its nose to spite its face when it supported U.N. General Assembly debate on his government's treatment of Buddhists.

Prof. Buu Hoi, head of a special Vietnamese mission to the 111-nation assembly, said the discussion would enable Communist delegations to demand that the United States withdraw troops from South Viet Nam. North Viet Nam already has renewed that demand.

"We were sure right from the start," Buu Hoi said in an interview, "that during the debate several countries from the Soviet bloc would raise the problem which has nothing to do with the Buddhist affair—which is the influence of the United States in that part of the world."

"That's why we deplored that the U.S. government voted in favor of the inclusion of that item in the agenda."

Buu Hoi said he thought it did so to put pressure on Diem he remarked that there was "more to it than just the Buddhist affair" but would not explain his remark.

New Shows Bid for TV Audience

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Four new television programs and three specials bid for the viewing public's attention over the weekend.

Most imposing was a taped CBS adaptation of Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler" starring Ingrid Bergman on Friday night. After a week dedicated to contemplating such dreary new concoctions as "Harry's Girls" and "The Outer Limits," the prospect of a meaningful theater classic in such competent hands as Miss Bergman, Ralph Richardson, Michael Redgrave and Trevor Howard was as appetizing as steak after a long diet of appallous.

Earlier on Friday evening ABC presented its completely changed "77 Sunset Strip" in which Efrem Zimbalist Jr. has been remodeled into a Sam Spade-type private eye. The first part of a five-part episode had Zimbalist wandering vaguely among a large number of unrelated characters. It was very dull.

"Burke's Law," another ABC series, also was a trite mystery sugarcoated with gimmicks. Gene Barry plays a millionaire cop who rides in a chauffeur-driven limousine in this Friday night entry and spends almost as much time with the ladies as chasing wrongdoers. Despite the gimmicks, the show never got out of a well-worn television rut.

Jerry Lewis presided nervously over the premiere of his new two-hour live ABC show on Saturday night. He complained that he has been asked repeatedly how he planned to fill two hours every week.

After his first very ragged show, in which comedy was notable by its absence, the question has still to be answered. However the mere fact that the program was live gave it a nice quality of unpredictability which could pay dividends if and when the show settles down.

NBC's "Bill Dana Show" came into sight Sunday night, with Bill playing familiar Jose Jimenez, now a hotel bellhop. The comedy, at best, was a string of mild two-line jokes based on Jose's problems with the English language—hardly enough to keep a show rolling for a season or even for a half hour.

Launching of new shows continues. Tonight belongs to CBS' "East Side, West Side," a dramatic series about a social worker starring George C. Scott. Earlier there is a variety hour, "Opening Night," with a number of CBS stars performing. CBS will be busy from 9 through 11 p.m. with the two shows.

Can't Repeal Urban Ordinance

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A Russellville group has filed a petition to repeal the ordinance creating the city's first Urban Renewal Project, but the city attorney says it cannot be done because contracts already have been let.

The petition would put an initiated act on the Nov. 5 general election ballot. Ike Allen Laws Jr., attorney for the Russellville Citizens Committee for Better Government, said more than 800 persons had signed the petition.

City Attorney James K. Young said all the petition can amount to is "an expression of public sentiment."

Young said, "The city has already entered into contracts with the federal government and with engineers. Legally and technically, nothing can be done about it."

Laws said his group felt housing standards required by the Urban Renewal Agency were arbitrary.

heads its Preparedness subcommittee, Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., and others.

Russell voiced fears it might be the first step toward complete disarmament without the safeguard of inspection. He and the others said they were concerned that Soviet martini-breaking atmospheric tests in 1961 and 1962 put them at an advantage in high yield weapons, in anti-ballistic weapons system knowledge and in ways to harden missile emplacements.

In the end, an overwhelming majority of the Senate went along with the endorsement of the military Joint Chiefs of Staff, who said that with four specified safeguards, the military "risks and disadvantages" were acceptable.

Kennedy, in a letter read to the Senate by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the Republican leader, gave the Senate "unqualified and unequivocal assurances" U.S. security would be protected under the treaty.

He gave assurances that the United States will meet the military's four points by continuing an aggressive program of underground testing, maintaining a healthy laboratory weapons development program, keeping up a readiness to resume atmospheric testing if the Russians cheat, and expanding and improving its facilities for detecting such cheating as well as checking on Sino-Soviet atomic progress.

The treaty came to an end of a long road Monday when proponents beat back a series of attempts to alter the resolution of ratification.

The senators refused, by a 61-33 vote, to attach to the pact an "understanding" that it does not inhibit the United States from using nuclear weapons to defend itself or its allies.

Another proposal, by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to make ratification subject to the reservation that the Soviets first remove their weapons and troops from Cuba was rejected 75 to 17.

With all other action completed, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen believed they had enough votes to insure ratification.

The last unofficial survey indicated only 18 senators opposed and two, Sens. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., and Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, officially uncommitted.

In its final action Monday, the Senate adopted a preamble to the resolution requiring Senate ratification of any amendments to the treaty.

This proposal, offered by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and an opponent of ratification, was accepted by the bipartisan leadership and adopted by a vote of 79 to 9. A move to kill it by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., lost by a 79-8 vote.

In accepting the Russell proposal, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, told the Senate it would not alter the resolution itself and would not have to be sent to the other 99 nations that have signed the treaty.

Fears were expressed that the treaty was ambiguous on whether it would inhibit use of nuclear weapons in an armed conflict.

However a reservation to define the right to use nuclear weapons was rejected after proponents insisted that President Kennedy had given iron-clad assurances that nothing in the pact imposed limitations on use of weapons in defense of the United States or its allies.

In the long debate, supporters voiced hope that the treaty may be the first step on a long journey toward an easing of the cold war and an end to the perils of radioactive fallout.

Opponents, and a good many supporters, too, aired fears that the ban on atmospheric testing would cause the United States to lose nuclear superiority.

Listen Girls, Complexions Are Made Lively by Taking Long Walks During a Rain

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Vumping to conclusions:

If you wife worries about her complexion, tell her a long walk in the rain will improve it more than a trip to a beauty parlor.

Irish girls are noted for their lively complexions. But they are brought out by the rain mists of their native land, not by any magic lotions or expensive creams.

The first thing most Southern people do after moving here is to quit eating grits. The second thing they do is start drinking scotch instead of bourbon.

Since Helen Hayes quit playing Queen Victoria the American theater has been going steadily downhill.

Manhattan's street vendors of roasted chestnuts make most of their money off tourists. I never knew anyone who ate one sack who ever tried another.

It used to be a sign of success to carry an attaché case. Now it's a badge of the dull and unimportant.

Here's something you can bet on. Nine out of 10 men who have a martini for lunch will pass the dessert. But three out of five suburban housewives in town for a luncheon spree take both cocktail and dessert.

There's a lot of talk about landing a man on the moon by 1970. But I'm willing to eat the helmet of any man who gets to the moon and back by 1975.

The easiest way for a smart girl to land a good job today is to learn how to take dictation well. Businessmen say most secretaries are lousy at it.

The reason many men remain bachelors is that they can't find a woman who can sew on buttons as well as they can.

The best practical psychologist I knew was an elderly panhandler who said, as he held out his hand, "Gee, you've got a beautiful face." Each sucker, after giving him a quarter, paused at the next store window and looked in it self-consciously at himself.

As soon as he is promoted to detective, a patrolman starts wearing tight shoes — so no one will think he's a flatfoot. That's why plainclothesmen have more trouble with their feet than a cop on the beat.

A man is poor when his wallet is empty, but a woman never feels broke until she loses her last charge account.

Many of the people who throw bread crumbs daily to pigeons in the park are more hungry than the birds they feed. They're starved themselves—for any kind of appreciation.

Thursday partly cloudy with little temperature change.

GOPs to Hear Staff Member

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ray Humphreys of Washington, a staff member of the Republican National Committee, will talk to top-level Arkansas Republicans Thursday about training and planning, state GOP Chairman William Spicer said today.

"Policies will be formulated out of this meeting into a very extensive training and educational program in all counties of Arkansas on behalf of our candidates in the 1964 elections," Spicer said.

About 23 party leaders, including the heads of the Republican Women and Young Republican League will participate in the conference at the Grady Manning Hotel, Spicer said.

Humphreys is national GOP director of political activity, which includes training and planning, Spicer said.

Dr. Jerry D. Jewell, president of the Little Rock branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the march was conducted to emphasize the moral theme of the civil rights issue.

He said it also was a prelude to a visit to Arkansas by Rev. Edward J. Odom, national church secretary for the NAACP.

The march included members of both the North Little Rock and Little Rock NAACP chapters and members of NAACP youth councils in both cities.

Rev. Otis Jones, pastor of the Mount Pleasant church conducted the service.

No incidents were reported at either Fort Smith or North Little Rock in connection with memorial activities.

Rail Dispute Hearing is Underway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Public hearings on the railroad work rules dispute began today before an arbitration board armed by Congress with power to write a binding settlement of the two chief issues.

The seven-man board headed by arbitrator Ralph T. Soward is expected to sit for four hours daily for the next six weeks, taking testimony from the nation's railroads and their five train-operating unions.

The issues under arbitration are those which for 4½ years have repeatedly threatened to precipitate an economy-crippling strike—whether 32,000 locomotive firemen should be laid off, and whether the size of freight train crews can safely be cut.

Bargaining on other issues will proceed concurrently. After each day's hearing the parties will go into closed session on seven subsidiary issues exempted by Congress from the arbitration process.

If these side negotiations fail, the threat of a strike could be renewed next spring despite the government-imposed arbitration of the major issues.

Congress gave the arbitration panel 30 days to get hearings on the work rules stalemate started, 60 more days to reach a solution, and another 60 days to bring its decision into force.

The Women Decide to Take Charge

SULPHUR ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The women didn't want this northeast Arkansas community of 225 persons to be without government—so they decided to oust the men from control of political offices.

Their action came, said Mrs. Varna Travis, who has been treasurer-recorder for the past two years, after none of the men had filed for city offices less than 24-hours before the deadline at midnight Saturday.

Mrs. Travis, running for mayor, heads a full slate of women candidates for city positions.

The incumbent mayor and one of the councilmen had moved out of town. The other incumbent councilmen aren't running.

The women would have had an

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Anderson of Hope Route 1 will celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary with open house at their home for their friends and neighbors Sunday afternoon Sept. 29 from 2 o'clock till 5. They plan to have their eight children and their families with them on this special occasion.

Their children are as follows:

Engagement Revealed

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Barentine of Hope announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Brenda Joyce, to William F. Putman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Devey G. Putman, also of Hope. Both the bride-elect and her fiancé attended Hope High School and are locally employed. The wedding is set for Dec. 27 at the Unity Baptist Church of Hope. No cards will be sent.

easy time gaining control, Mrs. Travis said, but a man found out about a secret meeting she called to work up a women's party.

The man called a meeting of males and set up a "men's party," she said.

By the filing deadline, both sexes had a full slate of candidates for mayor, treasurer-recorder and five council posts.

Mrs. Travis said the women can run the city just as well as the men.

"We have a little secret," she said. "We have a way of knowing what's going on better than the men."

"It's a friendly fight. We're going to have a lot of fun. We've challenged the men to a steak dinner."

Mrs. Travis, a beauty shop operator, and Curtis Gilbert, a lime dealer, will vie for the mayor's job.

There are about 100 registered voters in the town, she said, and half of them are women.

"There's less than half a dozen women in town without a poll tax," she added. "I'm sure we'll all vote together."

The issue Simple.

"Vote men" and "vote women."

Murfreesboro Diamond Mine Publicized

Southwide and nationwide publicity is being given peculiar rock formations contiguous and in the diamond mine twenty-acre area by the Education Staff of the Southern Forestfire Commission, Inc., Birmingham, Ala., it was stated here Saturday by Prof. W. L. Shaddix, who is employed by the Commission to further supplemental education assembly programs of schools and colleges of Arkansas and other southern states.

Professor Shaddix purchased a large collection of rock formations including samples from the diamond field to put on display in different museums and also for future classroom discussions on geology. He bought sufficient quantity to distribute free samples to teachers and librarians in various schools and colleges where the Commission is jointly employed to help on supplemental education programs.

The Birmingham office for a number of years has been distributing education brochures for the diamond acres, and now they have been presented with a large quantity of new brochures furnished by local civic groups, and nearby community development promoters.

DOROTHY DIX

A NEW LIFE

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Your interesting column in this paper has inspired me to write you, especially after reading your answer to "desperate" saying that instead of day-dreaming about romance she could write about it. This advice caused me to think that writing might open up a new life for me. I have written many short poems, prayers and verses. My husband, an alcoholic, went blind and, after caring for him seven years, our children there are four) finally persuaded me to send him to a hospital. So, since I am alone, a little advice from you would be a handful of help to me. —Seventy Years Young

Dear Young: Indeed writing could open up a whole new wonderful world to you provided you have something to say and say it. Are you a reader? Have you enough determination to finish what you start no matter how many setbacks. If given your choice of a career, would the craft of writing be it? If the answer to all these questions is Yes, then go ahead and learn the craft—for it is a craft. My husband is learning it now with the help of the Famous Writers Correspondence School course. He has a story to tell about the vanishing West in which he pioneered. And he wants to tell it.

I advised him to take this course because I don't think it possible for me, as a wife, to teach him. Loving him as I do, I would probably baby him along and praise instead of criticize. Besides, he would undoubtedly be self-conscious and, in an effort to be at his best, tense up were I looking over his shoulder. I deliberately refrain from so much as glancing at anything he sends in. But I do hear him typing or see him crouched in his easy chair, chewing the end of his pencil so know he is at work. I mention him only to encourage you for he is not young by calendar reckoning. But he will never be old as long as he has the will to learn.

Mrs. William Brown Meloney, one of the great editors of her time, said, "Learn and grow."

That was her philosophy and it is ours.

Dear Helen: I don't know which way to turn. My husband and I have had my father with us for a year and a half. We seem to be living in his home instead of him living in ours. Our son had to give up his bedroom and start Conference on Problems of Rural Youth Monday night that, the youth of the nation is not frightened by today's problems.

Instead, they are anxious to "get with it," he said.

Rockefeller told delegates to the conference at Oklahoma State University that, "Youth wants to be heard and, quite in contrast to what the 'experts' think, youths in more than 54 per cent of their replies still feel that Mother and Dad are their basic sounding board."

The Arkansas rancher and brother to New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller said the majority of rural youth feels that hard work—not who you know—is the secret of success.

sharing a bedroom with his young sister. Dear Helen: I have three married sisters and three married brothers who could keep him once in awhile but won't, or if at all, only for a couple of days. Help us! —Fed Up

Dear Fed Up: Before your father moved in, you should have worked out an equitable housing arrangement for him with your six brothers and sisters. Now you will have to make the best of your situation or call a family conference, including your father, to decide where he should live and for how long a period of time.

Dear Helen: My boy friend, is about the sharpest boy around. Such being the case you'd think my problem would be other girls. No! It's cars. As soon as he hears about a car that needs to be fixed, I no longer have any boy friend.

We talk about getting married but I want more action and less talk and he wants more talk and no action. Is it me or what? How can I get him less interested in cars and more interested in marriage? —Can't Wait

Dear Can't Wait: Almost everything in life is accomplished as the result of compromise. If you are not willing to share your boy friend with a machine, then he is not for you. There are many more, dangerous rivals.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

You'll see in one drive: Dodge doesn't look or feel low-priced. Yet, it is priced right with Chevrolet. And something else: Dodge gives you a 5-year/50,000-mile warranty*!

Highlights in Today's History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 24, the 267th day of 1963. There are 98 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1869, a panic was caused in Wall Street when financiers Jay Gould and James Fisk Jr. attempted to corner the gold market and the government stepped in to sell gold from the U.S. Treasury.

On this date In 1621, the first news sheet printed in English appeared in England. It had no name but is generally considered the beginning of English journalism.

The NIGHT, The WOMAN

By Stephen Ransome

THE STORY: Judge Carden asks his son Blake to keep an eye on the younger son Todd, who seems to be in trouble. Blake does not reveal to his father that Todd has twice borrowed money and refused to tell Blake why he needed it.

VIII

"What are you suggesting? A private investigator?"

"Certainly not. But you, Blake—I can rely on you."

"What? Are you asking me to spy on Todd?"

"Call it what you like. Of course the idea is repugnant to you, but it has to be done. Can you think of a better way of finding out?"

Blake could not. It was true that no one was in a more favorable position than he was to feel his way into Todd's predicament, whatever it might be.

"Suppose I start lauding Todd around. Suppose I even succeed in finding out what sort of fix he's in. What then? The kid brother advises his big brother to mend his ways? I know how Todd will react to that. He'll laugh in my face."

"He won't laugh in mine," the judge said flatly. "Not if I have the hard facts. The only way I can get them is through you."

"The sooner the better, I take it. I don't know how to be a detective, but I'll do my best."

Blake opened the door then closed it again, a question in mind. "Has Todd borrowed any money from you?"

"Not a cent. He hasn't asked."

Blake left the room frowning over his father's answer. John Carden's position on the bench was even more sensitive than Blake's as an attorney. Todd might feel forced to pull his brother onto the fringe of a questionable deal, but he would never go so far as to implicate the judge.

To Blake this was the most disturbing turn of all — an almost unmistakable sign that Todd's concealed operations actually were on the dark side.

When they were finishing their dessert — with Todd's place at the table still waiting — Blake heard the familiar throaty grumbling of a boat's exhaust not far beyond the sea wall. It was Valec getting under way.

Valec had been elegantly custom-built in a de luxe boat yard in West Palm Beach. She was strictly what Alec and Val had wanted her to be a party boat.

When the judge rose from the table, he duly complimented Ruth on a delightful dinner, then gave Blake a significant glance. "Win asked me to come over. 'I'll be there the whole evening.'"

"I'll go with you," Blake said, "for a few minutes."

They crossed the drive toward the Wingates' home. L-shaped, it had a swimming pool centered in the open patio. Through the sliding glass doors of the kitchen they saw Tessa mopping up after dinner. Win was in the extra room he had built inside the garage as a workshop. It was equipped with an impressive array of fine power and hand tools.

Win spent many of his working hours here, engrossed in his do-it-yourself projects.

They found him polishing a beautifully finished cabinet, a loud-speaker enclosure, a duplicate of one previously built.

Warren Wingate was a bear of a man, with strongly masculine features. His hands were huge, a laborer's hands, but he had learned to use them gently. He had first worked as a carpenter. His ambition and vision had advanced him to contracting, then to building. First single dwellings and finally large-scale developments. His first and greatest success was Plantation Manor, the most popular colony of homes in the bay area. He was retired now. In the past several years, following two coronary attacks, he had had to stay in low gear.

Blake had come for a reason—to find out, if he could, what lay behind Val's suspicion that someone had deliberately sabotaged the sale of her house and boat.

"Val popped into my office this afternoon," in. She was boiling mad at the Mannings. Can you tell me why they backed out of the deal?"

Win hesitated, frowning. "They called in an appraiser. Friend of mine named Boyce. When he came around, Val happened to be out. Amalia was there, but he didn't go in. He told the Mannings later that one good look from the outside was enough—all this was far too much for their heads."

"Who suggested the appraiser, Win?"

"I did. I was sorry to see Val lose the sale, but on the other hand . . . the Mannings being such good friends . . . I couldn't let them go overboard."

Hearing the sound of tires on pavement, Blake looked out the workshop door. A car was stopping in the driveway. Todd had come home.

Confidence Gaining in Business

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK AP)—Confidence is gaining on caution as autumn gets going.

Some basic industries like steel and aluminum are revising upward their performance goals. Retailers note with pleasure that consumers aren't retrenching. On the contrary they are spending a bit more and going further into debt, which spells confidence in their ability to repay.

Long and Hot Summer Over for Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—For the Los Angeles Dodgers the long, hot summer seems over. The champagne is old. The magic number is one.

One win by the Dodgers—which could happen tonight at the New York Mets' expense—or one loss by the St. Louis Cardinals—at the enrichment of the Chicago Cubs—was all that the Dodgers needed for the National League pennant.

A Los Angeles radio station announced plans to broadcast progress of this afternoon's Cardinals game every half inning, and the listeners are sure to include a bunch of guys who would like to drive to the Dodger Stadium as champions.

"I don't care how we win it, or by what device," said Don Drysdale, the big, side-arming pitcher who is pitching tonight against the Mets.

"They can't say we backed into it, no matter what happens," said Drysdale. "We won five of six to get where we are, and three of those wins were head and head against the Cards."

The champagne is on ice in the Stadium Club at Dodger Stadium, and it's mighty cold. Some say it has been there since last year about this time, when an end-of-season plunge brought disaster to Dodger pennant hopes in a playoff loss to San Francisco.

On July 2 it was Drysdale who defeated Curt Simmons and the Cardinals, 1-0, in the same stadium, to put the Dodgers ahead. They've been there ever since.

He opposes Tracy Stallard tonight. Drysdale is 18-17, Stallard 6-16. In 15 games against the Mets this season the Dodgers have only lost two—and Stallard pitched one of them, a four-hitter July 30.

There was only one game scheduled in the majors Monday. Detroit whipped Washington 4-1.

Norm Cash got the Tigers started with a first-inning homer and Rocky Colavito connected in the fifth with a man on. Phil Regan, touched for Don Blasingame's first-inning homer, won his 15th with one-out relief help from Willie Smith. Regan struck out 10 in 8 2-3 innings.

Sees Test Ban Period Dangerous

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon declared today that the limited nuclear test-ban treaty marks the beginning of the "most dangerous period in the cold war."

Nixon said he believes the treaty must be approved by the Senate, but he warned: "I believe the ban will be followed by the launching of a stepped-up Soviet offensive in the free world to extend communism without war."

The former vice president, a Republican, at the same time registered support of President Kennedy's handling of the explosive situation in South Viet Nam.

Nixon said failure to support South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem could lead to a takeover of the Southeast Asian nation by less desirable elements—presumably, the Communists.

Nixon ranged over a wide variety of foreign policy and domestic issues in outlining an address he was to make at the 22nd annual convention of the Mutual Agents Association of New York.

Clay's New Album Is Going Good

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP)—Cassius Marcellus Clay Jr.'s long-playing record album "I Am the Greatest" isn't going as fast as "If I Had a Hammer," "Mickey's Monkey," "Sally, Go Round the Roses" and other platters which send the beat generation into screaming ecstasy, but it is a definite early hit on the Hit Parade.

"Cassius' records are going very well, considering they've only been out a couple of weeks," said the proprietor of one mid-Manhattan spin 'em-porium. "Strangely, they appeal more to gentle old ladies and big, tough ditch-digging types than to the teen-agers."

If you have $3.98 and a full half-hour to spare, you can sit and listen to the bashing of Louisville tell you what a great fighter he is and how quickly he plans to disintegrate Sonny Liston, when and if they're put inside the same ring.

"I am the greatest!" Cassius repeats so many times that you constantly are checking to see if the needle is stuck.

He recites some of his favorite poetry—by his favorite rhyme-maker, Cassius Clay:

"This kid is great—he's got endurance. If you sign to fight him, increase your insurance."

Best Passing So Far by the Porkers

DALLAS (AP)—Before the season opened Texas worried about its defense, Arkansas about its offense.

So what happens Well, Texas leads the Southwest Conference in team defense and Arkansas is tops in team offense in the first week of play.

Texas allowed Tulane only 138 yards, which was 49 less than Arkansas gave up to Oklahoma State.

Arkansas romped to 403 yards, which was 25 yards more than Texas made.

Texas had the top ground attack with 287 yards. Arkansas had the best passing with 146 yards.

Texas was toughest against rushing, allowing only 103 yards. Texas A&M was strongest in air defense. The Aggies allowed ing lessons or talking lessons—he needs falling lessons.

"I saw that ugly man shadow boxing—and his shadow won."

"All Liston's got is a physical fatness program."

"I'm gonna be champion before I'm old enough to do shaving commercials."

Cassius, to fill out the platter, even does a medieval stint—"My mama once told me there were knights like this," a maiden cooed—and holds a presidential-type press conference.

Mr. Clay, he is asked, do you have anything against Sonny Liston?

"Now," replies Cassius. "He's a nice old man—only he's got my job."

Mr. Clay, have you ever been in love?

"Not with anyone else."

Poll Places Porkers in Eighth Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An early season match that could have a key bearing on the national football title is set for this Saturday—Southern California vs. Oklahoma at Los Angeles.

Southern Cal's defending national champions retained their hold on first place in The Associated Press poll this week—by a narrow margin—and Oklahoma moved up a spot to third. In between is Alabama, which entertains Tulane this Saturday and could shove into the top if the Trojan-Sooner game on the West Coast produces indecisive results.

Southern Cal, a struggling 14-0 winner over Colorado in its opener Saturday, had its front-running margin cut drastically. The Trojans received 23 of the 51 first-place votes cast by the special panel of sports writers and broadcasters to 16 for Alabama and on points it was a close 361-355, based on 10 for first, nine for second and so on.

Bama crushed Georgia 32-7 and took over second from Mississippi, which was held to a scoreless tie by Memphis State and fell from the Top Ten.

Oklahoma whipped Clemson 31-14. Texas climbed up a notch after a 21-0 victory over Tulane, and Navy shot from ninth to fifth on the strength of its 51-7 rout of highly regarded West Virginia.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-0-4 etc. basis:

1. Southern California (23)	361
2. Alabama (16)	355
3. Oklahoma (2)	238
4. Texas	237
5. Navy (3)	228
6. Wisconsin	208
7. Northwestern (5)	197
8. Arkansas	152
9. Georgia Tech	84
10. Pittsburgh (2)	67

Changes Are Being Made in Conference

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"There'll be some changes made" was being hummed throughout the Southwest Conference today and one of the biggest was replacement of Texas' Ernie Koy.

Coach Darrell Royal moved Harold Phillip up to No. 1 fullback in place of Koy with the explanation that Phillip was very aggressive in the game with Tulane, especially at blocking.

He wasn't critical of Koy, who had a good night rushing and kicking, but said "It's more of a promotion for Phillip than a demotion for Koy."

There were changes at several of the schools. Baylor brought squadman Curtis Leggett up to center to replace letterman Weldon Price.

Two switches were made at Texas A&M when end John Bortherton and guard Mike Swan replaced Andrew Overton and Yancy Bounds respectively.

Arkansas had to make a change, but it wasn't Coach Frank Broyles' idea. Linebacker Tommy Brasher hurt his knee in the Oklahoma State game and will be out probably until the Texas game Oct. 19. Gary Howard moved into the spot.

The other schools were prepared to go with what they had on the first units although there were numerous changes on down the line.

Injuries cropped up. Texas Christian halfback Jim Fauer suffered a twisted ankle in the Kansas game but it wasn't serious. Baylor's Ken Hodge, letterman end, had a knee hurt and may be out of the game with Houston Saturday night.

Southern Methodist Coach Hayden Fry wasn't worried about injuries but he didn't think the team was "pushing itself to the fullest."

Texas Tech started worrying about Texas, whom the Red Raiders meet at Austin Saturday night in the conference opener. Coach J. T. King said, "you'll be going up against one of the nation's finest football teams."

Rice held a game-condition scrimmage Monday night and the first and second teams scored so many touchdowns even Coach Jose Neely lost count. The best they could figure the score was 53-0.

Applications Drop
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Employment Security Division said Monday a decline in job applications in Arkansas contributed to fewer lay-offs last month.

James L. Bland, administrator, said the ESD filled 10,577 non-farm jobs in August. Applications during the month for work totaled 12,112. Bland said, nine per cent below the July level.

Louisiana State just 33 yards. Individually, Tommy Crutcher, Texas Christian's fullback, took the lead in rushing with 90 yards on 19 carries. Bill Gray of Arkansas topped the passers with six completions in 10 attempts for 115 yards.

Light Work for Porkers on Monday

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Coach Frank Broyles sent the University of Arkansas Razorbacks through a light workout Monday as he shifted line assignments in readiness for the Porkers test against Missouri Saturday.

The Hogs, dressed out in sweat clothes, worked briefly on their kicking conditioning.

The knee injury suffered by line-backer Tommy Brasher in the Razorback's Saturday 21-0 thrashing of Oklahoma State, triggered a series of assignment changes.

Utility man Gary Howard moved into Brasher's spot. He may be there until Oct. 19, Broyles said, when the Razorbacks meet Texas at Little Rock. Broyles said Brasher "might be back" by then.

Buddy Tackett, on the injury list through all but the first week of fall practice and out of the Hogs season opener Saturday, was put back to work Monday as a noseguard. Bobby Nix was moved from fullback to fullback on the No. 3 unit and Bobby Reynolds was shifted from fullback to tailback.

Broyles said Tackett probably would not play full time until the Porkers meet Texas Christian University Oct. 5.

Missouri started its practice for the Saturday meeting by looking at Razorback plays and setting up defenses.

The Tigers will meet the Hogs without their regular starting center, Mike Gilchrist, who injured a knee in their game with Northwestern last Saturday.

The Razorbacks will get a report on the Tigers today from freshmen coach Jack Davis, who scouted the Missouri-Northwestern game.

Negroes May Turn to Fraternities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Negroes, who have tumbled educational racial barriers in a massive national drive, so far have paid little attention to one aspect of college life—the fraternity and sorority.

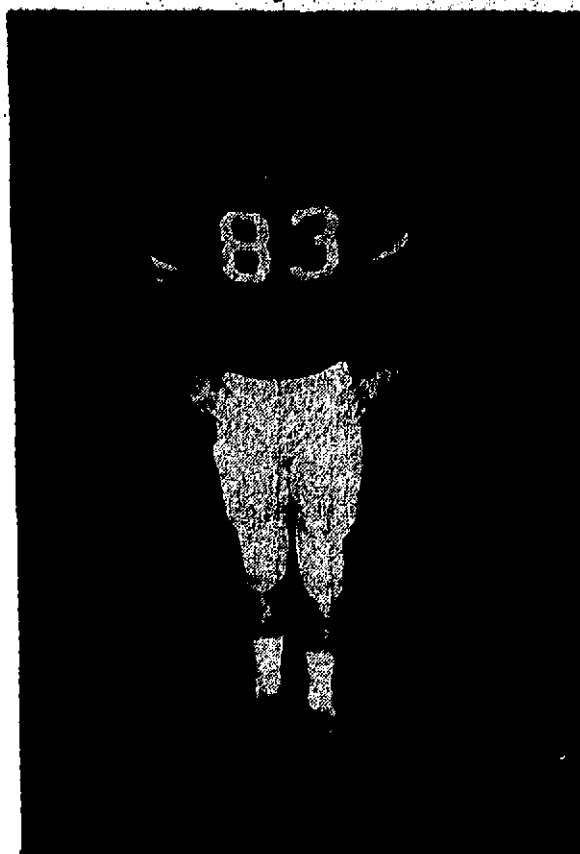

In some colleges and universities across the country, the Negro already is included on the rolls of such campus organizations.

In other schools there exist all-Negro sororities and fraternities. In most other institutions where fraternities and sororities have no nonwhite members, the Negro so far has done little to indicate he wants to join.

Several regional officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said the Negro feels being admitted to previously all-white schools was a big enough step for the present.

Chester Lewis, president of the Wichita, Kan., chapter of the NAACP, said he believed the breaking of any racial barrier that might exist in fraternities and sororities "is the farthest thing from the Negro thinking right now, what with other prob-

However, Laplois Ashford, national director of the youth and college division of the NAACP, said his group was "planning some type of activities through which we eventually hope to integrate these fraternities and sororities."

"It is true that the Negro has a lot on his mind right now and it might be a little while before we can begin on this problem in full force, but it is in the planning stage," he said.

He said that when such a program is put into effect, "the drive will be made on the campuses of Northern, Midwestern and Western schools first."

A nationwide sampling by The Associated Press showed that very few of those colleges checked had fraternities or sororities which had racial clauses written into the charters or bylaws.

However, such clauses do appear in the constitutions and charters of some national fraternities and sororities.

In most such cases, college officials said, the individual fraternities contend they do not abide by the regulations. In some instances, local groups have broken away from the parent organization rather than live up to the discrimination clause.

Despite all that, educators said there was a conspicuous absence of Negroes in most of the nation's fraternities and sororities.

Airlift Planned to Germany

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department announced today that an armada of 240 Air Force transport planes will airlift a 15,000-man Army armored division to Germany late next month in the greatest such long-range training operation ever undertaken.
